2. Read and complete the gaps in the text with the correct option.

One of (1) B. the easiest ways to stop the spread of (2) D. disease is to simply wash your hands.

Twenty seconds (3) A. of handwashing with soap and water can reduce illnesses and save lives. But many people, (4) B. especially children, do not have good handwashing habits. One problem is that children do not wash their hands often enough or long enough. Children (5) A. may think that it-'i's a tiresome thing to do.

To help solve this problem, two entrepreneurs from India (6) A. created a product to turn handwashing into a fun activity. Amanat Anand and Shubham Issar made a device (7) C. called the SoaPen. As the name suggests, the SoaPen is a pen made out of soap. The children draw on their hands with the soap pen and then wash it off. If they (8) C. do not spend enough time washing it off, the colors remain on their hands.

Issar said it ensures that children take (9) A. enough time to wash their hands. This may be very helpful in a classroom. A teacher often does not have the time (10) D. to check that each child has washed their hands properly.

7. What building can you see the fantastic view over the city from?

B. the Leaning Tower of Pisa

2. Read and complete the gaps in the text with the correct option.

The Austrian capital, Vienna, is (1) B. known for its museums, palaces and high standard of living.

Last year the city of 2 million people (2) C. was identified as having (3) B. the world's highest quality of life. That opinion comes (4) A. from Mercer, a consulting agency that does a yearly Quality of Living Ranking.

Measuring quality of life is not (5) A. a simple job. Mercer says the agency looks (6) D. at many factors. For example, researchers measure (7) D. how easily people can use public transport, such as buses and trains. They ask if drivers can move well on the roads. They ask if houses and apartments are available at a good price, and whether children can (8) A. go to international schools. They think about whether people in the city can enjoy music, theater, restaurants and sports. And, they look for a healthy political and social climate. In total, the agency (9) B. considered 39 factors in 10 areas to name Vienna the winner.

Vienna (10) D. ranked has also been number one on other quality of life measurements, such as the Economist's Global Live ability Index.

2. Read and complete the gaps in the text with the correct option.

Setsuko Takamizawa wants to prove that it is never too late to learn. At the age of 91, the great-grandmother is learning English (1) D with the help of her family. She hopes to use the language at next year's Olympic Games in Tokyo. Takamizawa was one of the more than 200,000 people who asked to volunteer for Tokyo's 2020 Games. English is not required for service, but it is (2) B a helpful skill for volunteers to have.

But Takamizawa (3) B had not been able to learn the language when she was young. She was in high school when World War Two (4) D started. She says, "In my second year there, English was banned (5) B because it was the enemy's language."

Takamizawa says that her grandchildren persuaded her that she was not too old to learn. Natsuko is Takamizawa's granddaughter and her main English teacher. Natsuko sends a new English word to her (6) A grandmother's phone every day. They also often work together (7) A on phrases that Takamizawa will need for the Olympics.

"Welcome to Tokyo, this is the Olympic stadium, how (8) C can I help you?" Takamizawa answers when asked to say an English phrase she has learned.

Natsuko (9) D explains that she wanted to give her grandmother something to enjoy. "I can clearly see her English is getting better. It's my joy now."

When Japan last held the Summer Olympics in 1964, Takamizawa was too busy to go to any events because she was raising a family. Takamizawa says she never thought the Olympics would happen in Tokyo (10) D twice in her lifetime. "It's good to live long," she says.

Exam Card #4

1. Read the advertisement and mark the statements True or False.

1. If you want to work with children, you should send an application form. FALSE
2. 14 days training course will be available for you. TRUE
3. The candidates have to be under the age of 30 years old. TRUE
4. You shouldn't be boring, miserable, inactive and slow. TRUE
5. You won't get paid for your job. FALSE
6. If you're a nature-lover, unfortunately you won't be able to spend much time outdoors. FALSE
7. During your summer work, you should forget about watching films. FALSE
8. You will never be hungry or homeless. TRUE
9. You will deal with fire while working with children. TRUE
10. Mostly you'll be feeling bored at your work and you can get some extra weight as well. FALSE

2. Read and complete the gaps in the text with the correct option.

It is back to school time in much of the world. Calm and easy mornings (1) D are replaced with busy ones. Children wake up early and get (2) D ready for school. Many parents are also getting ready for work, helping their children and preparing food (3) D for lunch.

But don't forget about breakfast!

When things get (4) B wildly busy in the morning, some people skip breakfast (5) A to save time. However, that may be a big mistake for students. As eating something healthy for breakfast may help a student get better grades.

(6) D Researchers from Cardiff University in Wales looked at what the students ate for breakfast and then their grades six to 18 months later.

They found that the students (7) A who ate a healthy breakfast were twice as likely to perform above average in educational activities. The researchers also found those unhealthy breakfasts, such as potato chips or a donut (8) C didn't appear helpful to educational performance.

In 2013, an organization in the United States also looked at possible connections (9) D between breakfast and student success in school. They found that on average students who ate breakfast provided by their school (10) C attended more days of school per year and scored higher on math tests.
